Far Out, A Rodeo Horse
Level I Book 9

A Crow Story
Written and illustrated by Henry Real Bird
Joseph Coburn, Director
Pacific Northwest Indian Program
Northwest Regional Educational Laboratory
This story is about a horse named Far Out and his rodeo life.
My name is Far Out.
I am red, but have a black mane and tail.
I am a bucking horse.
I try to buck off cowboys.
I have lots of friends.
Some are bulls.
Some of the bulls are mean.
They fight the cowboys and the clown.
Some of my friends are calves and steers. Cowboys rope them at the rodeo.
Sometimes at night a calf cries for his mommy.
In the morning and at night we eat hay and oats.
We have water to drink.
My friend and I eat together.
His name is Bean Belly.
At the rodeo they put me in a box with a gate at my side.
A cowboy puts a halter on my head.
I try to bite him, and he jumps back.
He puts a saddle on my back and pulls it tight.
The cowboy sits on me and pulls my head.
A man opens the gate.
I jump out...way up high...and put my head way down.
The man sticks his spurs in my neck.
It tickles.
I hit the ground and put my head back.
The cowboy stays on my back.
I jump and kick for the sky.
He is still on my back.
Finally, with a mighty jump,
I go...way...up in the air
and put my head way down and back.
I put my feet to the side and tip the saddle.
The cowboy goes flying.
I laugh and am happy.
I go back to the corral and talk with my friends.
HENRY REAL BIRD

Henry Real Bird is a Crow Indian who was raised in the traditional Crow way on the Crow Indian reservation in Montana. He entered first grade speaking only the Crow Indian language and has an intimate knowledge of problems Indian children encounter in the public school system. He received his B.S. in Elementary Education from Montana State University and has taught reading in all the elementary grades. He served as Curriculum Coordinator for Project Head Start, Language Arts Supervisor at St. Xavier Indian Mission and Summer Program Planner for 4-H and Youth Programs on the Crow Indian reservation. As the Teacher Orientation Specialist for the Pacific Northwest Indian Program, he was responsible for developing a teacher's manual and accompanying teaching inservice program, in addition to writing and illustrating books designed for Indian children. He has served on the Montana Advisory Committee on Children and Youth and the Crow Central Education Commission, and was a delegate to the 1971 White House Conference on Youth. He also is a saddle bronc rider and member of the Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association.
